Short Faculty Bio:

My passion to teach prospective counselors stems from the satisfaction and gratitude for the opportunity to study and become a counseling psychology professional. My private practice in Berkeley and my teaching in the MACP program at Argosy draw primarily from Emotionally Focused Therapy (EFT) and Systems Centered Therapy (SCT) with a particular emphasis on attachment and attunement at multiple levels including social/cultural domains. Both EFT and SCT emphasize the importance of combining academic and practitioner research to arrive at effective theory and method.

Final Date to Drop the Class:

To receive a “W” grade a student must officially drop this class by the date listed below that corresponds to this course’s term and length (indicated by bold type). Students may not withdraw from this course after the date this date. If a student chooses to discontinue course work after the final drop date, the student may receive an “F” grade for the course.

Summer Session I (7.5 week courses): June 11, 2009

Summer Session II (7.5 week courses): August 3, 2009

Summer Full Term (15 week courses): July 14, 2009

Course description:

This course provides 1) a broad understanding of what works in therapeutic contexts as evidenced by research and 2) skills in accessing, evaluating, and synthesizing research literature as well as documenting sources. Content includes empirical research of theoretical frameworks; common factors for therapeutic change including extra-therapeutic change, the therapeutic relationship, expectancy, and therapeutic technique; how change happens as evidenced by research; exploration of contradictions and controversies concerning therapeutic efficacy; discernment between qualitative and quantitative research; searching for literature using the Psych Info database and the onsite library resources; taking notes and avoiding unintentional plagiarism; evaluating and interpreting research literature including statistical analysis; writing organized and cohesive research papers; citing sources using American Psychological Association guidelines

Required Textbooks:

Hubble, M., Duncan, B., and Miller, S. (1999). The heart and soul of change: what works in therapy. Washington, D.C.: American Psychological Association

ISBN 1-55798-557-X

Pan, M. (2007). Preparing literature reviews: qualitative and quantitative approaches. Glendale, CA: Pyczak Publishing

ISBN 978-1884585760

Recommended Textbooks:

Tavris, C. and Wade, C. (2001). Psychology in Perspective. Upper Saddle River, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, Inc.

ISBN 0-13-028326-6

Selected pages from chapters 1 and 2 of this text will be offered online. To supplement these pages, it is recommended that you read chapters 1 and 2 in their entirety.

This text provides an excellent depth of psychological concepts in an easy to read and engaging manner. It gives underlying principles to help you understand the major psychological perspectives, i.e., biological, behavioral, cognitive, socio-cultural, and psychodynamic perspectives.

Lebow, J. (2006). Research for the psychotherapist: From science to practice. New York: Routledge.

“Historically, science and practice have unfortunately largely occupied different worlds within the mental health fields.” The author of this text attempts to bridge the gap between research and practice.

Program Outcomes: Master of Arts in Counseling Psychology

Program Outcome One: Professional Practice

Competency 1: Assessment and Skills

Formulate assessments of psychological functioning and apply therapeutic intervention strategies when working with individuals, couples, families, and groups, toward the development of optimal mental health.

Competency 2: Theory

Interpret and apply psychological and developmental theories to therapeutic intervention strategies.

Competency 3: Writing

Employ media and technology when presenting counseling information orally and in writing, so that the presentation is concise, organized, well supported, professional, and appropriate to the audience.

Program Outcome Two: Research

Competency 1: Analyze research, and translate research findings for improvement of counseling services using statistics and program evaluation methods.

Program Outcome Three: Interpersonal Effectiveness and Professional Development

Competency 1: Students will develop positive relationship skills that promote personal and professional development via effective communication, encouragement, empathy, respect for others, self-awareness, and other-awareness.

- a. Apply active listening communication skills in interpersonal scenarios to establish empathetic relationships.
- b. Analyze the importance of effective nonverbal communication skills in interpersonal relationships.
- c. Solicit and utilize feedback to build and maintain interpersonal relationships.

Program Outcome Four: Ethics

Competency 1: Using the American Counseling Association's Standards of Practice /or the American Psychological Association's Ethical Code, as well as, and local state law as it applies to the behavior of mental health professionals, identify ethical dilemmas and apply ethical decision-making strategies while engaging in professional activities.

Program Outcome Five: Diversity

Competency 1: Multicultural Skills

Provide assessment, counseling, and consultation services in work with clients by applying psychological and multicultural theories and research to diverse populations, and modifying interventions as needed to work effectively with diverse clients.

Competency 2: Multicultural Awareness

Examine personal values and biases, reflect on beliefs, and understand how they impact work with clients and interpersonal relationships with other students and faculty.

Competency 3: Multicultural Knowledge

Identify and assess the complexity and multidimensionality of cultural/diversity theories and issues in the field of counseling psychology while working with clients and interpersonal relationships with other students and faculty.

Course Objectives:

As a result of this course, students will demonstrate the following:

- 1) Ability to identify common factors in change in therapy
- 2) Ability to identify controversies in therapeutic evaluation
- 3) Ability to distinguish between qualitative and quantitative reviews
- 4) Ability to search for literature, refine a topic, and retrieve and evaluate information from the web
- 5) Ability to take notes and avoid unintentional plagiarism
- 6) Ability to evaluate and interpret research literature, including statistical analysis
- 7) Ability to write organized and cohesive research papers
- 8) Ability to cite references using APA guidelines
- 9) Ability to conduct practitioner research in order to monitor progress of clients and improve counseling services
- 10) Ability to access and evaluate literature on the effects of counseling/therapy on children, adolescents, illness, death, and the aging.
- 11) Ability to access and evaluate literature on diversity issues in counseling/therapy.

Assignment Description and Dates Due

1. Read the Hubble text, the Pan text, the selected reading from Tavis and Wade posted online, and other readings according to the Reading Schedule (see below).
2. Post onto the discussion board at least twice weekly according to instructions. It is your responsibility to look for these instructions in emails received from the instructor and online discussion requests for responses.
3. Complete the Research Paper Guidelines assignment that requires you to paraphrase guidelines from the Pan text. These guidelines assist students in preparing a research paper. This assignment will be clarified in the updated syllabus at the beginning of the course.
4. Complete a Research Project that explores your personal philosophy of “what works in therapy” with supporting evidence from research and program evaluation in the field. You are required to cite the Hubble text in writing this paper.

The Research Project requires you to demonstrate your ability to

- Present your position clearly and concisely with substantiation from research findings and synthesis of literature
- Distinguish between fact and opinion; support opinions with facts that are cited from the literature

- Use American Psychological Association writing style that includes standards for organization, grammar, and citing of references
- Conduct a literature review online
- Access onsite library resources by visiting in person a library with graduate level psychological references

Include the following sections:

- Research Paper: 6-8 pages, maximum 2500 words, typed, double-spaced; APA style
- References: minimum of four research articles/books within last 5 years (if available) in addition to Hubble text; APA style
- Research Notes compiled from each research article/book with page numbers listed
- Library Visit Notes: library you visited; name of psychology database available; articles or books accessed; resources you used for your report
Note: library must have access to psychology database and have graduate level psychological literature
- Research paper criteria with self-evaluation highlighted in italics

Prepare a sample of your research paper using APA style criteria consisting of 1) a cover page, 2) two paragraphs that demonstrate your ability to paraphrase, to assert your opinion supported by facts, and to cite research, and 3) sample references used for the research paper (including the Hubble text). The purpose of the sample is to practice the use of APA style so that you may receive feedback before submitting the final version of your research paper. The sample of your research paper is due

From the feedback of your sample research paper, make corrections using APA style criteria.

The Research Project is due

Library

All resources in Argosy University’s online collection are available through the Internet. The campus librarian will provide students with links, user IDs, and passwords.

Library Resources: Argosy University’s core online collection features nearly 21,000 full-text journals and 23,000 electronic books and other content covering all academic subject areas including Business & Economics, Career & General Education, Computers, Engineering & Applied Science, Humanities, Science, Medicine & Allied Health, and Social & Behavior Sciences. Many titles are directly accessible through the Online Public Access Catalog at <http://library.argosyu.edu>. Detailed descriptions of online resources are located at <http://library.argosyu.edu/misc/onlinedblist.html>.

In addition to online resources, Argosy University’s onsite collections contain a wealth of subject-specific research materials searchable in the Online Public Access Catalog. Catalog searching is easily limited to individual campus collections. Alternatively, students can search combined collections of all Argosy University Libraries. Students are encouraged to seek research and reference assistance from campus librarians.

Information Literacy: Argosy University’s Information Literacy Tutorial was developed to teach students fundamental and transferable research skills. The tutorial consists of five modules where students learn to select sources appropriate for academic-level research, search periodical indexes and search engines, and evaluate and cite information. In the tutorial, students study concepts and practice them through interactions. At the conclusion of each module, they can test their comprehension and receive immediate feedback. Each module takes less than 20 minutes to complete. Please view the tutorial at <http://library.argosyu.edu/infolit/>

Academic Policies

Academic Dishonesty/Plagiarism: In an effort to foster a spirit of honesty and integrity during the learning process, Argosy University requires that the submission of all course assignments represent the original work produced by that student. All sources must be documented through normal scholarly references/citations and all work must be submitted using the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 5th Edition (2001). Washington DC: American Psychological Association (APA) format. Please refer to Appendix A in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 5th Edition for thesis and paper format. Students are encouraged to purchase this manual (required in some courses) and become familiar with its content as well as consult the Argosy University catalog for further information regarding academic dishonesty and plagiarism.

Scholarly writing: The faculty at Argosy University is dedicated to providing a learning environment that supports scholarly and ethical writing, free from academic dishonesty and plagiarism. This includes the proper and appropriate referencing of all sources. You may be asked to submit your course assignments through “Turnitin,” (www.turnitin.com), an online resource established to help educators develop writing/research skills and detect potential cases of academic dishonesty. Turnitin compares submitted papers to billions of pages of content and provides a comparison report to your instructor. This comparison detects papers that share common information and duplicative language.

Americans with Disabilities Act Policy

It is the policy of Argosy University to make reasonable accommodations for qualified students with disabilities, in accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). If a student with disabilities needs accommodations, the student must notify the Director of Student Services. Procedures for documenting student disability and the development of reasonable accommodations will be provided to the student upon request.

Students will be notified by the Director of Student Services when each request for accommodation is approved or denied in writing via a designated form. To receive accommodation in class, it is the student’s responsibility to present the form (at his or her discretion) to the instructor. In an effort to protect student privacy, the Department of Student Services will not discuss the accommodation needs of any student with instructors. Faculty may not make accommodations for individuals who have not been approved in this manner.

The Argosy University Statement Regarding Diversity

Argosy University prepares students to serve populations with diverse social, ethnic, economic, and educational experiences. Both the academic and training curricula are designed to provide an environment in which students can develop the skills and attitudes essential to working with people from a wide range of backgrounds.
